CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND DISCLOSURE POLICY

Author Disclosure Instructions and Corresponding Author Checklist

Document version: 2.0 | Approved and effective 1 November 2026

1. Purpose and scope

AJTES follows the ICMJE Recommendations and requests transparent disclosure of relationships, activities, and interests that could reasonably be perceived as influencing a submitted manuscript. Disclosure does not, by itself, establish inappropriate conduct or disqualify an article from consideration.

2. Individual author disclosure requirements

Every author, including authors with nothing to disclose, must complete the current official ICMJE Disclosure Form individually. The form and instructions are available at https://www.icmje.org/disclosure-of-interest/.

- Disclose all support for the submitted work, regardless of when the support occurred, as required by the current ICMJE form.
- Disclose other relevant financial and non-financial relationships, activities and interests over the period specified in the current form (generally the preceding 36 months).
- Complete the form in English; save it as a PDF (suggested filename: Surname_GivenName_ICMJE.pdf). The corresponding author submits all individual forms with the manuscript.
- Notify the editorial office promptly if a material disclosure changes during peer review, acceptance or publication processing.

3. Statement in the manuscript

A concise “Conflicts of Interest” statement must appear in the manuscript and accurately reflect the individual disclosures. Illustrative wording:

No relevant interests: “The authors declare no competing interests relevant to this manuscript.”

Interests declared: “A.B. reports receiving speaker honoraria from [Entity]. C.D. reports research funding from [Entity]. The remaining authors declare no competing interests relevant to this manuscript.”

4. Funding and sponsor involvement

The manuscript must contain a separate Funding statement identifying financial and material support and, where applicable, the role of funders or sponsors in study design, data collection, analysis, interpretation, manuscript preparation and the decision to submit. If there was no external funding, state this explicitly. Funding disclosures and ICMJE forms must be consistent.

5. Editorial assessment and management

The editorial team evaluates disclosures and may request clarification or measures to safeguard independent assessment. Editors and reviewers must disclose relevant competing interests and recuse themselves when impartiality could reasonably be compromised. Submissions involving editors or editorial board members must be managed through an independent editorial process. Authors who hold an editorial role at AJTES must state it in the Conflicts of Interest statement.

Potentially undisclosed relevant interests identified before or after publication will be assessed fairly in accordance with applicable COPE guidance. Outcomes may include clarification, a published correction, an expression of concern or, where justified, retraction; none is automatic.

6. Confidentiality and data protection

Individual ICMJE forms are used for editorial assessment, stored and accessed according to AJTES data-protection procedures and applicable law. The published article normally includes the author-approved summary disclosure statement; full individual forms are not automatically published.

7. Corresponding author submission checklist
